NOTICE OF JUDGMENT NO. 378, FOOD AND DRUGS ACT.

ADULTERATION OF OATS.

On or about February 8, 1909, the St. Louis Hay and Grain Company, of St. Louis, Mo., shipped from the State of Missouri to the State of Georgia 250 bags of oats. Examination of samples of this product made under the direction of the Bureau of Chemistry, United States Department of Agriculture, showed it to be adulterated within the meaning of the Food and Drugs Act of June 30, 1906. As it appeared from the above examination that the said shipment was liable to seizure under section 10 of the act, the facts were reported to the United States attorney for the Southern District of Georgia.

In due course a libel was filed against the said 250 bags of oats alleging adulteration of the product, in that there had been mixed and packed with it, in a manner to reduce, lower, and injuriously affect its quality and strength, a quantity of barley constituting about 17 per cent of the mixture, and said barley had been substituted in part for the genuine food product.

On May 8, 1909, the Central National Bank of St. Louis, Mo., entered an appearance and filed a claim to the goods, and the court rendered its decree of condemnation and forfeiture, with the proviso that the goods be released to the claimant upon payment of costs and filing of a bond conditioned that the said goods should not be disposed of contrary to the laws of the United States or the laws of any State, Territory, District, or insular possession.

This notice is given pursuant to section 4 of the Food and Drugs Act of June 30, 1906.

JAMES WILSON,
