On January 24, 1938, the United States attorney for the Northern District of Georgia, acting upon a report by the Secretary of Agriculture, filed in the district court a libel praying seizure and condemnation of 19 dozen bottles of imitation lemon flavor at Atlanta, Ga., alleging that the article had been shipped in interstate commerce on or about December 23, 1936, from Chicago, Ill., by Talman & Millard, and charging adulteration and misbranding in violation of the Food and Drugs Act. It was alleged to be adulterated in that a product containing a poisonous substance, a glycol, had been substituted in whole or in part for imitation lemon flavor, which it purported to be; and in that it contained an added poisonous or deleterious ingredient which might have rendered it injurious to health.

Misbranding was alleged in that the statements borne on the label, "Imitation Lemon Flavor * * * For Ice Cream, Cakes, Ices, Icings, Pastries, Candies, Etc.," were false and misleading and tended to deceive and mislead the purchaser as applied to an article containing a glycol, a poison; and in that it was offered for sale under the distinctive name of another article, imitation lemon flavor.

On March 7, 1938, no claimant having appeared, judgment of condemnation was entered and the product was ordered destroyed.
