28596. Adulteration and misbranding of orange flavor and imitation lemon and banana flavors. U. S. v. 1 Quart Bottle of Concentrated Imitation Lemon, et al. Default decrees of condemnation and destruction. (F. & D. Nos. 41096, 41214. Sample Nos. 45291-C, 66434-C, 66435-C.)

The lemon and orange flavors contained about 60 percent and the banana flavor contained about 5 percent of carbitol, a solvent composed of a glycol or a glycol ether, or both, poisons.

On December 13 and 22, 1937, the United States attorneys for the District of Maryland and the Northern District of California, acting upon reports by the Secretary of Agriculture, filed in their respective district courts libels praying seizure and condemnation of two bottles of flavors at Baltimore, Md., and one bottle of flavor at San Francisco, Calif., alleging that the article had been shipped in interstate commerce on or about August 16 and September 27, 1937, by P. R. Dreyer, Inc., and charging adulteration and misbranding in violation of the Food and Drugs Act. The banana flavor was labeled in part: "P. R. Dreyer Inc. New York N. Y."

The articles were alleged to be adulterated in that substances containing a glycol or a glycol ether, or both, poisons, had been substituted in whole or in part for concentrated imitation lemon, concentrated orange flavor, and concentrated imitation banana flavor, which they purported to be. The lemon and orange flavors were alleged to be adulterated further in that they contained an added poisonous or deleterious ingredient, a glycol or a glycol ether, which might have rendered them injurious to health.

The articles were alleged to be misbranded in that the statements on the labels, "Conc. Imit. Lemon," "Conc. Orange Flavor," and "Concentrated Imitation Banana Flavor," were false and misleading and tended to deceive and mislead the purchaser when applied to articles containing a glycol or a glycol ether, or both, poisons. The banana flavor was alleged to be misbranded further in that it was offered for sale under the distinctive name of another article, concentrated imitation banana flavor, a food flavor.

On January 6 and 27, 1938, no claimant having appeared, judgments of condemnation were entered and the products were ordered destroyed.

28597. Adulteration and misbranding of Glyketone. U. S. v. 1 Bottle and 1 Bottle of Glyketone. Default decrees of condemnation and destruction. (F. & D. Nos. 41092, 41093. Sample Nos. 71222-C, 71227-C.)

This product consisted of a glycol or a glycol ether, or both, poisons.

On December 13, 1937, the United States attorney for the Eastern District of Pennsylvania, acting upon a report by the Secretary of Agriculture, filed in the district court libels praying seizure and condemnation of two bottles of Glyketone at Philadelphia, Pa., alleging that the article had been shipped in interstate commerce on or about March 15, 1937, by P. R. Dreyer, Inc., from New York, N. Y., and charging adulteration and misbranding in violation of the Food and Drugs Act. The article was labeled in part: "P. R. Dreyer, Inc., New York, N. Y., Glyketone."

It was alleged to be adulterated in that a glycol or a glycol ether, a poison, had been substituted in whole or in part for Glyketone, a food-flavor solvent, which it purported to be.

Misbranding was alleged in that the statement "Glyketone" was false and misleading and tended to deceive and mislead the purchaser when applied to a glycol or a glycol ether, a poison; and in that the article was sold under the distinctive name of another article, Glyketone, a food-flavor solvent.

On January 21, 1938, no claimant having appeared, judgments of condemnation were entered and the product was ordered destroyed.
