29500. Adulteration and misbranding of raspberry extract. U. S. v. 7 Gallon Jugs of Raspberry Extract. Default decree of condemnation and destruction. (F. & D. No. 43162. Sample No. 14643-D.)

This product contained beta-ionone, a synthetic chemical flavor not found in raspberries.

On August 1, 1938, the United States attorney for the District of Massachusetts, acting upon a report by the Secretary of Agriculture, filed in the district court a libel praying seizure and condemnation of 7 gallon jugs of raspberry extract at Boston, Mass.; alleging that the article had been shipped in interstate commerce on or about June 9 and June 30, 1938, by H. Kohnstamm & Co., Inc., from New York, N. Y.; and charging adulteration and misbranding in violation of the Food and Drugs Act. The article was labeled in part: "Atlas Flavors H. Kohnstamm & Co., Inc., New York Chicago."

Adulteration was alleged in that a substance containing beta-ionone, a synthetic chemical flavor, had been substituted wholly or in part for the article and in that it had been mixed in a manner whereby inferiority was concealed.

Misbranding was alleged in that the statement "Genuine fruit raspberry extract concentrated" was false and misleading and tended to deceive and mislead the purchaser when applied to an article containing beta-ionone, a synthetic chemical flavor. Misbranding was alleged further in that the article was an imitation of and was offered for sale under the distinctive name of another article.

On September 19, 1938, no claimant having appeared, judgment of condemnation was entered and the product was ordered destroyed.
