

1487. Adulteration of tomato sauce. U. S. v. 49 Cases of Tomato Sauce. Default decree of condemnation and destruction. (F. D. C. No. 8497. Sample No. 21582-E.)

On December 14, 1940, the United States attorney for the Southern District of New York filed a libel against 49 cases of tomato sauce at New York, N. Y., alleging that the article had been shipped in interstate commerce on or about November 14, 1940, by Stockton Food Products, Inc., from Stockton, Calif.; and charging that it was adulterated in that it consisted in whole or in part of a decomposed substance. The article was labeled in part: (Cans) "Kane's Tomato Sauce."

On January 8, 1941, no claimant having appeared, judgment of condemnation was entered and the product was ordered destroyed.

VINEGAR

1488. Adulteration and misbranding of vinegar. U. S. v. 20 Cases of Vinegar. Default decree of condemnation and destruction. (F. D. C. No. 2637. Sample No. 13293-E.)

This product contained not more than 3.35 percent of acetic acid; whereas cider vinegar should contain not less than 4 percent of acetic acid.

On August 22, 1940, the United States attorney for the District of Idaho filed a libel against 20 cases of vinegar at Weiser, Idaho, alleging that the article had been shipped in interstate commerce on or about July 18, 1940, for the Kerr Conserving Co. from Portland, Oreg.; and charging that it was adulterated and misbranded. It was labeled in part: (Bottles) "Royalty of the Table Kerr's Pure Cider Vinegar."

It was alleged to be adulterated in that a substance containing less acid than cider vinegar should contain had been substituted wholly or in part therefor.

It was alleged to be misbranded in that the statement "4 percent acetic acid" was false and misleading since it was not correct.

On September 19, 1940, no claimant having appeared, judgment of condemnation was entered and the product was ordered destroyed.
