

Corporation from Crystal Springs, Miss.; and charging that it was adulterated and misbranded. It was labeled in part: (Cans) "Net Contents 4¾ Oz. Avoir. Baby Brand Tomato Puree."

The article was alleged to be adulterated (1) in that it consisted in whole or in part of a decomposed substance; (2) in that inferiority had been concealed by the addition of artificial color; and (3) in that artificial color had been added thereto or mixed or packed therewith so as to make it appear better or of greater value than it was.

It was alleged to be misbranded in that it purported to be tomato puree, a food for which a definition and standard of identity had been prescribed by regulations as provided by law, and it did not conform to such definition and standard in that it contained less than 8.37 percent of salt-free solids, and artificial color.

On March 17, 1941, no claimant having appeared, judgment of condemnation was entered and the product was ordered destroyed.
